

November 21st, 1972

Seymour Ehrenpreis, Ph.D.,
Chief of Pharmacology,
New York State Research Institute for Neurochemistry and Drug Addiction, Ward's Island, N.Y. 10035.

Dear Seymour,

I would be pleased to contribute a chapter on the clinical evaluation of narcotic antagonists, including the use of heroin challenges, pupillography, respirometry, and EEG; and the special applications of rapid detoxification with naloxone, in an article titled "Evaluation of Narcotic Antagonism in Man". However, I believe I should know the financial considerations for the participants before committing the time to this interesting effort. I would consider $20-30 a manuscript page or $40-60 a printed page (excluding references) as average.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry

MF/1j