Dear Ed,

Thank you very much for the Lehmann-Rockliff Rating Scale for depression. It seems simple enough and may be even easier to use than the Zung.

As soon as I have this depressive study organized, I intend to try this in a few subjects and if satisfactory, will probably adopt it.

The organization of the out-patient evaluation unit is coming along, though slowly. The first study will be implemented by January 1, and I hope to be able to undertake others soon thereafter.

My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
