

February 1, 1965

Dr. Charles Shagass
Department of Psychiatry
University of Iowa
School of Medicine
Iowa City, Iowa

Dear Charles,

Following your stimulating talk about the Lippold Technique of electrostimulation, I discussed with Sam Guze the possibility of undertaking a small study at Renard Hospital. I believe we would be interested in running such a trial, and it would be helpful if we could ask you to demonstrate the equipment and technique when you next visit St. Louis.

I know that you are scheduled to be in this city on Monday, March 1. I presume you will be arriving on February 28. Would you be willing to spend a few hours at the University late that afternoon, or after the site visit on Monday afternoon?

In either case, would you be willing to either ship us one of the instruments or bring it with you?

Many thanks.

Sincerely,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry

MF:jm