Dear Dr. Dolce,

Dr. K. Offenloch was kind enough to call me just before I had to leave Würzburg and tell me of your interest in the quantitative programs for EEG analysis of drugs. On my return to Frankfurt, the time was too short to allow us to meet.

I am enclosing a reprint describing the theoretical basis for our studies, and a progress report written some months ago to give an appreciation of the types of studies we have found interesting and feasible. These include the identification of drug profiles, definitions of bioavailability, and some dose comparisons.

I trust these are helpful and would be pleased to hear further of your interest in this problem.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
