

January 1, 1970

Dr. J. Mendels, M.B., M.D.
Depression Research Unit
V.A. Hospital
University and Woodland Aves.
Philadelphia, Pa. 19104

Dear Joe,

It was kind of you to invite my participation in your volume, "Textbook of Biological Psychiatry", and I am pleased to accept. As I read the list of prospective titles, I am surprised that you see the EEG as a companion piece to the many biochemical essays planned for the volume, and I hope that I will be able to accomplish the mission in a satisfactory fashion.

I presume you wish an outline and you will set a reasonable deadline for the final manuscript.

You should know that I am working on a similar section for the Textbook of Psychiatry, 2d edition by Freedman and Kaplan. I have discussed your outline with Dr. Freedman, and we both agree that it is possible to make the presentations sufficiently distinct as not to cause either you or him any embarrassment.

My best wishes for a successful 1970.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry

mf/

p.s. Would you be so kind as to post the enclosed announcement of the 1970 APPA meeting on some suitable bulletin board at your hospital ?
Many thanks.