

April 9, 1962

Dr. Leo Hollister
V.A. Hospital
Palo Alto, Calif.

Dear Leo:

No, the outline form is not better! Thanks for your chatty report. If we had more such, we might read them.

By the way, how can one treat "about four patients" (nialamide)?

I agree with your views of "long acting" preparations. We had tested the spansule chlorpromazine and compazine against their respective tablets, and found better drug dosage control and fewer "side effects" with the plain tablet (and cheaper as well!).

I vote for a newsletter!

Sincerely yours,

MF:gp

Max Fink, M.D.