New York, New York

Dear Alain,

I look forward to having you join us on February 2. Enclosed is a list of the seminars in psychopharmacology for the residents and I look forward to having you discuss with them the practices and problems of new drug evaluations.

The presentation will take place at 11:00 am at Metropolitan Hospital (97th Street and First Avenue) in the fifteenth floor classroom. The group will consist primarily of first year residents and some additional members of the staff.

At 12:15 pm we plan to meet with the whole staff to present our experiences with long acting fluphenazine. Dr. Bucci is away, but as soon as he returns he will summarize our data and we hope we can get it to you before the presentation.

Incidentally, I received the corrected text from the Archives of General Psychiatry of our report and this should appear shortly. I have called Mr. Bold and asked him how many reprints he would like.

I look forward to your participation in our program. My best personal regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
