Dear Alain,

It was kind of you to send me the translation of the Lambert/Midenet report, which I have read with interest, and with some disappointment. The concepts are good, but as you know already, there is no data and while I am impressed, I fear that my colleagues will not be stimulated to look into this problem.

Your studies, however, should do much to revive interest in the high dose problem, and I look forward to hearing of your results.

You will be pleased to know that Charles Shagass has asked that I write a short chapter on the long-acting fluphenazines for a forthcoming review of advances in psychopharmacology in clinical practice. I hope that I will do the subject the justice it merits.

Your assistant sounded delicious over the telephone. How about lunch soon ?

My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
