Dear Vince,

Thank you very much for your invitation to Groton on May 27. Both Jovan and I will be pleased to attend and we will probably drive late Friday afternoon.

I have read the two descriptions of P-3693A by Hackett et al. and the company brochure with considerable interest. Would the data presented be consistent with an anti-anxiety activity for this compound? If so, we would be interested in undertaking such a study and I would be glad to send you a protocol for your criticism. We could wait until the meeting, or we would be pleased to discuss this with you on your next visit to New York.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
