Dear Dr. Brahen:

It was a pleasure to chat with you again in Washington. I am writing to remind you that we would be interested in receiving such information as Pfizer may have available regarding Benzquinamide. Dr. Gershon is now establishing laboratories and I trust that we will be able to undertake some studies by early summer.

I am taking the liberty of enclosing a brochure describing the Missouri Institute of Psychiatry. The three-year training program in psychiatry at this institution is now supervised and directed by the staff of the Institute. While the emphasis of the staff is on studies in the biological aspects of psychiatry, the training program is balanced with lectures and experience in both individual and group psychotherapies. On the occasion of your next visit to St. Louis, I would be pleased to take you through the Institute.

My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M. D.
