

February 27, 1967

Dr. Vincent Cremata
Chas. Pfizer & Co.
Groton, Connecticut

Dear Vince,

Thank you very much for the reprints of our thiothixene paper. I have sent copies to each of the co-authors.

During the past week I have had a chance to read the descriptive brochure of P-3693A, and the accompanying article by Hackett and coworkers. The clinical data is impressive and the compound surely should be studied further as an anti-depressant. We should be able to make such trials later on this spring, and if you are interested in having additional cases in out-patients, I would be pleased to discuss a project with you.

My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry

MF:kp