Dear Alan,

Thank you for your inquiry about an associate for psychopharmacology. Two names come to mind - Dr. Martin Keeler, who is at our College from North Carolina, appears to be unhappy with New York living - too expensive and all that, and Dr. Gerald Klerman of Yale. He has had a new chairman and has given up his position as Clinical Director of the Connecticut Mental Health Center.

Dr. Keeler is an eminent drug therapist with a keen interest in hallucinogens. I find him sophisticated, knowledgeable and capable.

Dr. Klerman is one of the nation's leaders in psychopharmacology, with special interests in theoretical biochemical aspects of drug therapy.

I can recommend both men highly.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
