Dear John:

I should be delighted to have you as my guest and to pay all your expenses during your trip to and your stay in St. Louis.

Dr. James Vanderplas, who is in charge of our center, is leaving for vacation on July 6. If at all possible, could you visit July 1st through 3rd? If that is not feasible for you, then our programmers will be available during the whole month of July and it would be fine to have you visit on July 8th.

During your visit here, would you be prepared to present a seminar on some of the statistical approaches with which you are acquainted to the people at the Computer Center of Washington University?

If you will let me know what flight you are taking, we shall have you met at the airport.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M. D.
Director
