Dear Don:

My reason for sending the write-out of the data we now have on file is to indicate that these are the only items that I still have available in either card or tape format. When you asked this question last time I looked for the original data sheets and I do not have them in my files. To the best of my recollection all the data sheets were sent over to the University and I do not know what their fate has been. I have maintained the master cards and the two tapes in the Washington University Computer Center Library. These are the only data that are available to me.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
