John A. Harris, M.D.
Mayo Clinic
Rochester, Minnesota

Dear Dr. Harris:

First, let me thank you for the samples of your work which you have sent to me. Both Mr. Shapiro and I have found these of interest, especially the prediction study which seems to confirm the validity of your model.

I regret that you have not been able to devote more time to this problem and I believe we need the explorations of many models if we are to have better EEG analytic methods.

I am taking the liberty of sending you a copy of a report we have recently completed. While the study is pedestrian, it provided the opportunity to test the EEG, computer, and statistical methods necessary for drug discrimination.

My best wishes in your studies.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
