Dear Dr. Mann,

I am returning the EEG samples sent me. As we discussed, these samples seem to represent the four montages of a single session in each of four subjects. It is not possible to determine 'drug effects' from such a sample, and when you reach the investigators again, you may indicate that the need is for serial records, taken with ~~the~~ same montage, preferably at the same time of day and with some control for the state of vigilance of the subject. (It does us little good to get records with subjects asleep on one occasion, awake the next; one hour after dosing on one occasion, and six hours on another; etc.).

I am sorry about the crossing of the two protocols for the study of depression, but look forward to your combining the best of both. Let me know what you decide.

My regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
