

Leeters

May 16, 1978

Roger Meyer, M.D.
University of Connecticut
75 West Uplands Drive
Hartford West, Conn.

Dear Roger,

It was a pleasure to speak to you in Atlanta, and my best wishes on the success of your clinical center.

Enclosed is the report on DH-524, an interesting compound which has CNS activity in our screen, and which seems to us to have some special merit in studies of alcoholism. The report by Mendelson is cited, and it is the only negative report. At the least, trials in patients will tell us whether tolerance to the cardiovascular effects occur and if some other applications could be sought.

My regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.