Dear Alain,

I am most grateful for your kind assistance last week. The study is now under way and I will submit protocols to the investigators you suggested. It is an intriguing idea, that of a child psychopharmacology study unit, and I hope that we will learn something new in the process.

I have continued to recommend Prolixin Enanthate in problem cases and now have two patients who have required more than 44c/week for maintenance. Perhaps these higher dosages, tested in Europe, should be made more commonly known to the psychiatrists in this country.

Again, my thanks.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
