Department of Medicine
Tulane University School of Medicine
New Orleans, La.

Dear Professor McMahon,

Thank you for the invitation to participate in the symposium, Clinical-Pharmacological Methods of Drug Evaluation, to be held in New Orleans next March. I will be pleased to participate and to discuss the role of EEG methods in new drug evaluation and as indices of bioavailability.

In your outline, you indicate the other titles to be reviewed in the session. If it is of any help, I would suggest you consider Milton Kletzkun, Ph.D. of Wallace Laboratories, Cranbury, New Jersey for the review of skeletal muscle relaxants. If he is unable to carry out the assignment, I am confident he will be able to recommend someone to you.

Similarly, Dixon Woodbury is well known for his interest in the anticonvulsants; or, possibly you would wish to consider one of the more classical neurologist-clinicians as Gilbert Glaser or Melvin Yahr.

As I will be changing my university affiliation this fall, may I suggest that my address of record be changed to:

P.O. Box 269
Great Neck, New York 11022
Communications addressed to that box should reach me promptly.

Again, my thanks for the invitation.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
