Dear Martin:

In the hectic days of the past few weeks, we were not able to sit down and discuss the proposed paper on EEG changes in electroshock. I have received Bob Kahn's comments and they are enclosed.

I have reviewed your original paper in the Hillside Journal and believe that the material presented here augments that report and can be made supplementary to it. Rather than my modifying the introduction and the discussion to reflect the fact that the inherent capacity for neurophysiological change may be a determinant of these differences, perhaps you should make the changes. Would you do so?

I want to thank you for the pleasant weekend, and for your support during our difficult days. The trip back to St. Louis was uneventful although it seemed much longer than the trip to New York. I plan to leave New York next Saturday for London and if I have a chance, I will call you on Friday.

Best regards to everyone.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
