Dear Alain,

It was nice of you to call last week. I am grateful for your letter of January 20, and will wait for whatever data you have available.

I do not know what rumor you may have heard, but it is true that I am scheduled to leave for New York late this spring to participate in the teaching and research programs in the Department of Psychiatry at the New York Medical College - Metropolitan Hospital Center. One focus of our work will be with drug addicts, and another will be in an out patient therapy unit. I look forward to undertaking drug evaluation studies in both patient populations later on this year, and hope, as always, to continue with your collaboration and interest.

My best personal regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
