Dear Dr. Whitman:

Separately I am sending you preprint copies of some of the reports which describe the computer analytic methods for EEG analysis. The largest is a monographic review of our technical programs, and it is this which has occupied most of our time. The second is a presentation before the IBM Medical Symposium and this will give you an idea of some of our applications.

Some of the other reports are earlier work describing frequency analyzer methods and these are sent for your information.

As I mentioned to you, I am in transition. Nevertheless, I believe if these techniques interest you, a trip to St. Louis would be rewarding and I would be pleased to have you visit at such a time as I will be in the city.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
