Dear Al:

Enclosed is a copy of the curriculum vitae of Dr. Edward Domino and a list of six of the publications which he considers most important, for he used these as citations in a grant application.

I have had an opportunity to hear him speak on a number of occasions in neurophysiological discussions and have found his presentations clear although often they are complex. He recently submitted a large grant application which I believe has not been supported.

I trust this information is helpful.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
