Dear John,

I regret the time it has taken to review this volume. It seemed so easy, until I began to assess the meaning of the two sections that interested me. I found myself reading and re-reading the sections, and then it was a difficult decision, whether to be general or specific.

I believe the review is too limited-- in part because I am not well equipped to assess the other sections. For the opportunity to review the Elul and John sections, however, I thank you.

Many thanks for the invitation and the challenge.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
