Dear Harold,

It was kind of you to ask about old psychiatric books. I am looking for the following:

Meduna, Ladislaus von. Die Konvulsionstherapie der Schizophrenie. Carl Marhold Verlagsbuchhandlung, Halle a. S., 1937, 121 pp.

Wagner-Jauregg, Julius. Fieber- und Infektionstherapie. Ausgewählte Beiträge 1887-1935. Verlag für Medizin, Weidmann & Co., Wien, Leipzig, Bern. 1936, 299 pp.

Wagner-Jauregg, Julius. Lebenserinnerungen. Herausgegeben und ergänzt von L. Schönbauer und M. Jantsch. Springer-Verlag, Wien, 1950, 187 pp.

Sakel, M. Neue Behandlungsmethode der Schizophrenie. Perles, Wien, 1935.

These books are out-of-print and are among the bed-rock documents of the somatic therapies era.

ECT is having a resurgence of interest. I am told that one article on ECT appeared in a Boston newspaper science section on January 14 and another is scheduled to appear either this week or next. There will also be an article in the local papers, reflecting the recent meetings in New York.

All seems well here. We did miss you during the New Year's celebrations at Alice and Marty's. It was fun, and the weather was reasonable.

My best regards and my thanks for your kind efforts.
