Dear Dr. Brazier:

I would like to thank you for permitting me to quote from your 1964 review in the forthcoming Supplement 23 of the EEG Journal. I have had occasion recently to prepare a report on my views on the subject of EEG and drugs for a psychopharmacology group, and am taking the liberty of sending you a copy.

In May, I had the opportunity to visit the Brain Research Institute on occasion of the APA meeting. I was very much impressed by the many programs and projects in progress. I called your office but you were away.

I would very much like to have an opportunity to visit with you and perhaps spend some time observing your study programs. Perhaps, when such a visit is possible, I might also observe some of the other programs at the center. As I am fairly free to set my own time schedules, would it be possible for me to visit with you this Fall? I am planning to attend the Santa Fe meetings and I am free the week thereafter (until October 10). I also plan to be in San Francisco for the Fall Joint Computer Conference, October 27-29, and can make any time available from October 30 to November 4.

If you will be available either of those times, I shall be grateful for the opportunity to visit with you.

My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Director
