Dr. Paul Feldman
Topeka State Hospital
Topeka, Kansas

Dear Paul:

We missed you at the Divisional Meeting, but the discussions were reasonably good. I am taking this opportunity to write to you on behalf of a research nurse who has been with me for more than eighteen months and to commend her to your consideration in the event that you are needing such an assistant.

Mrs. Mary Ann O'Farrell Stallings graduated from Washington University's Advanced Training Program for nurses, receiving her M.S. in 1964. She had her B.S. in nursing from St. Louis University two years earlier. She joined my staff in June 1964 and has been responsible since that time for our Early Clinical Drug Evaluation Program. I have found her to be a reliable, gracious, and considerate co-worker with a most charming personality. She has assumed full responsibility for the co-ordination of our studies and her departure will be a major loss to our program.

Her husband desires to attend the university in Lawrence and she has indicated that she would be interested in an opportunity in work similar to that which she had here. I thought of you and Joe Stein and am writing to both of you, telling her to call you when she has an opportunity in Kansas. If you need someone with her capacity, please accept this letter as one recommending her highly.

My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
