Dear Bill:

It was a pleasure to chat with you, and when you told me how extensive your present practice was, I had a twinge of regret for not having continued in the private practice of Psychiatry. However, the present opportunities are still very exciting and I am writing to ask your permission for a member of my staff to visit with you in September during his holidays.

Dr. Alexander Don is a graduate psychiatrist from South Africa who joined the staff last year. He is interested in observing treatment methods not available in this city, and so inquired as to the possibility of observing Indoklon therapy as you carry it out. With your permission, he will call you early in September and plans to be in New York during the period September 14 to September 21. Perhaps he can come to visit you at Gracie Square on Saturday, September 18, 1965.

I would be grateful if you would show him your techniques. My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
