Dear Arthur:

I would be pleased to have you visit the Missouri Institute of Psychiatry to participate in the Residency Training Program on January 31. A tax exempt receipt is enclosed to permit you to purchase your air transportation tax free. We will reimburse the expenses of your visit and provide an honorarium as well.

I would be pleased if you would discuss with the residents some aspect of your experiences with new drugs, highlighting, if possible, the problems of new drug evaluation in the chronically ill and giving them an evaluation of such compounds as you have found useful. This is part of our effort to provide the staff with different viewpoints regarding psychotropic drugs.

I will extend an invitation to my own associates as well, and look forward to having the opportunity for you to meet them during the afternoon.

I would be pleased if you would care to stay over night as my guest and arrange for you to return to New York the next morning. There are two flights leaving Idlewild every morning, at 9:15 and 9:45, arriving in St. Louis at about 11:00 a.m. If you will let us know what flight you are taking, we will arrange to have someone meet you.

My best wishes for the New Year.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M. D.
Director
