

March 31, 1972

Dr. Sidney Archer
Sterling Winthrop Research
Institute
Rensselaer, New York

Dear Sid:

Many thanks for your hospitality and the fine dinner on Monday. I have already written Bob about the changed concentration of cyclazocine, and discussed with Al Freedman our possibility of finding the animal toxicology of l-cyclazocine pamoate (or enanthate). Should we get any encouragement, we plan to ask you to prepare this material for us.

I also enjoyed our discussion of anti-anxiety agents. Perhaps you would be interested in this small reprint. As it was retrospective, we were unable to assert we have observed tolerance development, but I believe the data supports such a view.

My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry

MF:ig

Enc.