Dear Bill:

Enclosed are the corrected galley proofs and the original text. I have endeavored to answer each of the questions raised by the editors.

The only additional comment is that each article should have the author's present address, so that interested readers can communicate. Since the article has no place for my present address, I have suggested that you insert this either at the end, or as one of the foot-notes on the presenting page.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
