Dear Bob:

It was a pleasure talking to you in New York and your questions, following as they do the telephone call by Nat, stimulated me to take pencil in hand and review the last draft of the tri-hospital study. Enclosed is a draft copy of my effort. I am taking the liberty of sending a copy to Nat and Max as well with the enclosed notes. Would you please edit this draft and I will assume the responsibility for making a final copy and submitting it for publication.

As I think of the various journals, I believe I would like to send this first to the Archives of General Psychiatry; and failing that either to the Journal of Psychiatric Research or the British Journal of Psychiatry. Next in sequence would be the yellow journal Psychiatry. Is this agreeable to you.

I think this article is a good one and I would very much like to see it appear in press. If this draft is unsuitable, would you accept the responsibility to submit a better one for our consideration in the near future?

My best regards for the New Year.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
