Dear Bob:

The revised draft is enclosed, and it has gone to Dr. Grinker in this form. I do hope he accepts it, because it is one of the more interesting non-biological studies in which we have participated.

The changes here have been many, and I now find myself in a position similar to that which I held in 1958. The administrative burdens are minimal and relate exclusively to my own studies. I seem to have achieved a maximum of independence for research with a great deal of authority over patients, staff, and facilities. Whether I can make something of this only time will tell. I have a few excellent co-workers, but none have the stimulation and imagination that you exhibited.

I look forward to seeing you in May during the APA Meeting. My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
