Dear Dr. Nadien:

Mr. Gillespie, a student at S.U.N.Y at Stony Brook, is scheduled to receive his Ph.D. this week. His work here has been exemplary and he has completed his studies with skill.

My acquaintance is limited to his participation in my seminar on "Brain and Behavior", and his work with a peptide, ACTH 4-10. In the seminar, he was an interested and active participant, and completed his assignments well. In the study of ACTH 4-10, he examined the effects on attention and learning in monkeys. Again, the work was done with care but the results failed to show a drug effect.

He is a skilled experimenter and I recommend him for a position in which his skills may be useful.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
