Dear Paddy,

Dr. Itil and I have reviewed the information on ST-155 and find it rather remarkable. For this reason, we would like to propose a pilot study in some of our psychotic patients to determine the electrographic and behavioral effects of a single intravenous administration of this compound. As you know, we have been accustomed to interpreting the potential psychotropic range of activity of new compounds in this experimental situation.

If the intravenous form of this compound could be made available, then we will carry out the protocol which is enclosed. If this interests you, would you please call me?

My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
