Gentlemen:

Your advertisement is of special interest to me, not for myself, but for associates who are interested in developing their own research facilities in New York. As you may know, I was responsible for developing the research study programs at Hillside Hospital, 1954-62, and for establishing the research facilities in St. Louis, the Missouri Institute of Psychiatry.

During this time, I have become associated and acquainted with a number of physicians who may be very suitable for this position. If I can be of any help in making such a recommendation, please call on me.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
