Dear Ivan,

After many years, we have been prompted to complete the enclosed report, "d-Cycloserine Therapy of Psychosis by Symptom Provocation" and it has been accepted by Fritz Freyhan for Comprehensive Psychiatry.

In reviewing this data, we were once again impressed that Seromycin, in large doses, has useful CNS activity - useful as a stimulant for depressive and withdrawn subjects, particularly those in state hospitals. Perhaps, further studies can be stimulated.

Thank you for the supplies.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
