Dear Donald,

After your letter about the hunt for the article on an evaluation of psychoanalysis, I thought of calling Abe Lurie [516 681-5004]. He recalled a similar story, stated that he had brought the tale to HH after sitting next to the author on a flight. He recalled that there was another evaluation done at Hawthorne-Cedar Knolls in the 1960s. The report was critical of psychotherapy, but could not give me any more data.

Perhaps you can jog his memory a bit more.

My best regards.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
