

J. Plenum

February 3, 1970

Dr. Gerry Klerman
50 Alston Avenue
New Haven, Connecticut

Dear Gerry,

Two weeks ago I had the second meeting with editors of Plenum Publishing-- first with Mr. Ubell and then Mr. Weingarten -- who discussed the feasibility and need for an additional journal devoted to drugs and behavior or drugs and brain function. I believe that there is need for such a journal, particularly if it is dedicated to studies in man. Mr. Weingarten reviewed a list of our co-workers and friends with whom he had spoken, and I shared with him some of my views of the work they had done.

It was apparent that he was favorably inclined to the support of this venture which you had expressed, and I encouraged him to continue to elicit your support. The meetings next week at the New York Hilton may provide the opportunity for a review of this suggestion, and I hope that you will provide the guidance which he may require.

My best regards, and I do hope that something can be arranged.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.