

21 March 1974

John Exner, Ph.D.
11 Beaver Drive
Bayville, New York 11709

Dear John:

I checked the EEG sample shown to me by my staff. While the frequencies are irregular and the voltages variable, I do not see anything which, by itself, would be considered pathological. If the subject is asymptomatic, I would go no further. If the subject is symptomatic, then he should be sent to an appropriate medical person.

My best regards,

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry

MF/cis