Dear Art:

One of my co-workers, Dr. Alexander Don, who has written to you in the past with regard to your studies of trifluoperidol is planning a visit East in Mid-September. He has asked which laboratories he might visit to observe programs both similar and dissimilar to our own. I recommended that he visit with you, chiefly because he has had experiences with trifluoperidol that differ somewhat from your own, and because I think he should see an operational ECDEU Unit.

He will either write or call you and will try to visit during the week of September 21. If you are at all available, I would be grateful if you could arrange for him to perhaps see some of your work, Leonied's and Carl's and perhaps even if Harold Franks is available, I believe he would be most interested in his work as well.

Incidentally, Dr. Marjerrison has written to me as you indicated he would. I regretted very much the necessity of writing to him that the programs here also have recently been filled and for the first time we are faced with the strictures of not being able to fill major positions during the forthcoming year.

I would be grateful for any considerations you may give Dr. Don.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
