Kansas City, Missouri

Dear Dr. Wilkinson,

I am pleased to write a letter on behalf of Dr. Oliver Nikolovski. He worked at New York Medical College in 1968-1970 and was involved in my research efforts for one year.

He is a well trained European psychiatrist with a dedication and enthusiasm for research. He is unimaginative, however, so that his principal capacity is to carry out protocols carefully. This he does with enthusiasm and with attention to every detail. He is reliable. In his interpersonal relations, he is well liked by the staff and the patients.

After working with me for a year, he was promoted to be in charge of the Day Hospital-- a function which he carried out well and with equal enthusiasm. I think his clinical skills are good and his reputation in that position was good.

I have no basis for judging his teaching ability since he was not a member of my teaching team during the time I was at the New York Medical College.

I think he is an excellent team member and should serve admirably in any clinical position in which dedication, sincerity, and meticulous attention to detail is required.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
