Re: Norman E. Pitts, M.B.

Gentlemen,

I am pleased to write on behalf of Dr. Norman Pitts, whom I have known since 1967 in his many roles of increasing responsibility in clinical research at Pfizer, Inc. As a consultant, I have had many opportunities to meet with him, to assess medical studies and data with him, and become acquainted with his knowledge of clinical medicine.

Dr. Pitts is an outstanding clinician, with a keen interest in and awareness of the problems of patient care, diagnosis and treatment. He is warm, friendly, and congenial in his interpersonal relations, and reliable and thoughtful in exercising his professional responsibility. In my relationships with him, I can reflect on no experience or quality of personality that would limit his full endorsement for licensure in medicine.

I am pleased to endorse his application without reservation.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
