Dear Carl:

I am taking the liberty of sending you this copy of a study which we recently completed on the EEG effects of amobarbital. While the observations are not novel, the methods employed are an extension of the quantitative work which has been going on for the last few years.

It is my impression that a presentation of this material in a pharmacological journal would be helpful to support the view of the electroencephalogram as an index in the measurement of drug effects, especially those drugs that affect behavior. As I have not published in a pharmacological journal before, I am writing to ask your recommendation regarding the possible publication of this material in one of the journals with which you are associated.

Thank you very much for your help.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M. D.
Professor of Psychiatry
