Dear Dr. Clark,

Thank you for the informational material for AHR-1900 and the enquiry regarding an EEG study of a delayed action fenfluramine. I have found both questions of great interest and considerable challenge, and would like the opportunity to discuss this with my associates. Unfortunately, two are still away on holidays and will not return for another week, and I will be away for some days thereafter.

I am writing to ask your indulgence in my delay in answering these enquiries. I will write or call you during the third week of September.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
