Dear Miss Adams:

While we are investigating the central effects of substances of abuse, we are not in the clinical practice of neurology (neuropsychiatry). Your letter is detailed about your search for help, but fails to mention, help for what. Perhaps you should see your family physician or a member of the staff at either the New Jersey School of Medicine in Newark (try Dr. Louria) or at Rutgers Medical School, and allow them to recommend the consultants you may require.

If you wish to detail the history of the symptoms that trouble you, I will ask one of our research staff to review the material and perhaps we may make a more specific recommendation.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
