Dear Seymour, Jim, and Martin,

I have received an anguished phone call from Tom Williams in response to my letter announcing the full submission of the articles from the meeting to the publisher. He enquired as to whether indeed he "had been axed from the editors". Not knowing how to respond immediately, I indicated that I would consult you.

I do not recall the compact which Tom is referring to. I do know that in editing this volume we did not call on him and that, in truth, his participation was limited to representing the Clinical Research Branch at the program sessions.

If there is a compact which I may be neglecting, I would be grateful for a reminder from any of you. In the absence of such a reminder I would be inclined to leave the arrangements as they are. I am grateful for your advice.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
