Dear Paul,

First of all, let me congratulate you on your election as Treasurer of the CINP. I can think of no one more qualified that the College could have selected.

My interest in the classification of novel compounds by EEG criteria has recently led me to review the printed data on sulpiride. It has been studied extensively by P. Borenstein who has found interesting EEG changes and for this reason the compound was brought to my attention by an American pharmacologist in the U.S. You may recall that I discussed this compound with you in Prague and I am writing to request any preprints or published data regarding the pharmacology that you may have available from your laboratory.

I would be most grateful if you might also list the names of investigators of your acquaintance who may have worked with sulpiride.

My personal regards to your wife.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry
