Dear Peter:

We would be pleased to accommodate Tony Croft in our laboratories during the second half of March. We will set up a program which will include observation of our data collection and data analysis methods, experience in running experiments, and an opportunity to artefact records. He may learn as much as he wishes about the data analysis, including the statistics. Should it be appropriate, we will also go into detail with regard to the behavioral data analyses. Have I left anything out?

Do you wish him to visit other laboratories while he is here? If so, will he make the arrangements or should I?

As to accommodations, I believe he would enjoy the Three Village Inn in Stony Brook. Rooms cost $12-15 per day. Other hostelries are all-modern "Hilton imitations" and have slightly higher tariffs. Should you wish accommodations at the Inn or the other motels, please let me know.

I would ask that you give him the same instructions that I originally left for you--to phone me at 516-444-2447 in the daytime or, evenings, at 516-751-4664 or 516-466-5444. I will probably suggest that he take a limousine to Stony Brook or Great Neck, depending on where I am.

P. J. Fell, M.D.

In confirming these arrangements, it would be helpful if you would give me some information as to Mr. Croft's background and training, as well as specific additional questions which should be studied while he is here.

My best regards,

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
