

June 17, 1968

Dr. Martin Halliday
National Hospital
Queens Square
London, England

Dear Dr. Halliday:

Dr. Charles Shagass, who recently visited your laboratories, was discussing your program of research in convulsive therapy and indicated that you had made some novel observations on differences in memory function with the unilateral and bilateral treatments. We are studying this problem and your experiences may be most helpful, for Dr. Shagass indicates that different memory tasks yielded differences in results for seizures on the dominant and non-dominant sides.

If these reports are indeed correct, I would be most grateful for a preprint of your report; or if published, the citation or reprint.

Thank you very much and my congratulations on having made such a forceful impression on my good friend.

Sincerely yours,

Max Fink, M.D.
Professor of Psychiatry

MF:kp